

Teams that Tick: Less 'Me' and More 'We'

Managing and being part of a highly motivated, engaged team is fantastic; everyone goes the extra mile, things happen quickly and there is that 'Friday feeling' each day of the week!

Our engaging and impactful Facet5 TeamScape day; "Teams that Tick: Less 'Me' and More 'We'", will help you achieve just that. The day will shine a light on what motivates and engages each person in your team and how this insight can be used to enhance the team's overall performance and effectiveness.

Ahead of the day each team member will complete a Facet5 personality profile which will provide behavioural insight about the dynamics of your team.

What the day covers. . .

1. Horizon scanning

As a team, what are you here to do and where do you need to go?

2. Group Facet5 debrief

A chance to share and explore your Facet5 profiles with one another to understand how your own, and your team members, preferences might help or hinder effectiveness.

3. Walk the line

An opportunity for the team to discover individual preferences and preferred ways of working. We then get to the "so what" for team performance.

4. There is no 'I' in team

A task-based activity to get under the skin of how you work together.

5. When the going gets tough. . . !

Your preferences for managing conflict and disagreement and what this means for you as a team.

6. Your team commitments

What you will take forward and how you will hold each other accountable in order to leverage your team effectiveness into the future.
